BACKWARD LOOK

TEN YEARS AGO

From Bulloch Times, Mar. 1, 1934

Tax delinquents must show cause; registrars send notices to more than thousands on defaulters' list.

Shivering around the 20-degree mark, Statesboro thermometers are registering what it is hoped will be the final breath of winter during the present week.

William E. Nations, son of A. T. Nations, and James E. Keel, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter P. Keel, of route 1, were among the limited number accepted in the U. S. Marines.

Savannah Press carried statement, said to be released by Postmaster General Farley, that "Homer C. Parker will be appointed assistant secretary of war in event Harry H. Woodring resigns."

Social events: On Friday evening Mrs. Gordon Mays entertained the members of the Mystery club and other friends at bridge; Mr. and Mrs. C. Z. Donaldson entertained at a turkey dinner Friday evening when twenty guests were served; Mrs. Harvey D. Brannen was hostess to the Mystery club and other guests, making five tables of players, Friday evening; the Tuesday bridge club met Wednesday evening at the home of Mrs. G. E. Bean, on South Main street; the monthly meeting of the U.D.C. will be held Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. J. W. Williams, on Savannah avenue, when hostesses will be Mrs. W. H. Blitch, Mrs. W. H. Sharpe, Mrs. W. L. Jones, Mrs. D. B. Turner, Miss Marguerite Turner and Mrs. Anna Potter.

TWENTY YEARS AGO

From Bulloch Times, Feb. 28, 1924

In yesterday's democratic primary for county officers, winners were H. T. Mallard for sheriff, D. N. Riggs for clerk and B. R. Olliff for county school superintendent, each receiving a majority of the vote cast, in race for ordinary S. L. Moore and A. E. Temples led, but neither received a majority, however Judge Moore announces he will not enter the run-over primary to be held March 12th; in the run-over W. B. Donaldson and M. C. Jones will run for tax collector, E. Hudson Donaldson and John P. Lee for tax receiver, and Chas. Pigue and F. B. Hunter for solicitor of city court.

Social events: The marriage of Miss Anna Brannen of Statesboro and Freeman Hardisty of Atlanta was solemnized Sunday afternoon at the home of Rev. T. J. Cobb, who officiated; announcement made of the engagement of Miss Caro Bill Price-Williams, of Bixby, Miss., and Jack R. Davis, of Birmingham, the marriage to take place at an early date; Mrs. Hubert Jones entertained the North Side club Tuesday afternoon at her home on North Main street; Mrs. D. C. Smith was hostess Thursday afternoon to the members of the Jolly French Knotters at her home on East Main street.

THIRTY YEARS AGO

From Bulloch Times, Mar. 5, 1914

Citizens are called to attend mass meeting Friday evening to discuss proposed anti-cow ordinance; warm discussion promised.

Dr. L. W. Williams purchased yesterday from E. K. DeLoach a choice residence lot on Savannah avenue, the price being $2,000; contemplates building.

Sudden drop in temperature Sunday afternoon sent thermometer down to 24-degree mark, which was four degrees lower than a previous cold spell one week earlier.

Under the direction of Misses Cotton and Johnson, teachers of expression and music, a recital was given at the Institute auditorium last evening which was largely attended.

Contract for remodeling the court house was let today to Rogers and Simmons, of McRae, for $13,500; G. C. Kirkland was low bidder for plumbing at $2,600; total cost of improvements, $16,100.

Friends of R. J. H. DeLoach, then located at Griffin, were elated by the announcement that Henry Ford had directed his Ford dealer in Griffin to present DeLoach a new car with his compliments; DeLoach met Ford through his association with Thos. A. Edison and Dr. John Burroughs.

FORTY YEARS AGO

From Statesboro News, Mar. 1, 1904

Word comes from Washington that four rural routes laid out from Statesboro have been recommended favorably and will be put into operation at once.

Miss Lela Wilson left yesterday for Roswell, New Mexico, where she will go as a companion for a lady residing out there. She will be away for sometime.

"It is rumored that Col. F. T. Lanier might be a candidate for representative in the approaching primary, though we have no authority from him to make this statement."

M. J. Green, of the Sinkhole district, was in Statesboro Saturday and sold his entire cotton crop, comprising twenty-four bales; he got 26 cents per pound all around and the sale netted him over $2,600.

The people of Statesboro have been pretty generally vaccinated during the past few days. Most of them were vaccinated last spring, but there were quite a number who had to have their arms scratched this time.

On Wednesday evening a party of young folks went on a trolley ride to Roberts mill given in honor of Misses Clara and Hudson, the party comprising Misses Mattie Lively, Kate Parker, Maude Avant, Lena Evans, Lottie O'Daniel, Maude Clara and Rosa Hudson, and Messrs. C. E. Cone, D. R. Groover, H. W. Lee and Hinton Booth. Mrs. Clara and Mrs. Ennis chaperoned the party.

GOES OVER QUOTA BY GOOD MARGIN

People of Bulloch Buy $109,456 More Bonds Than Asked For In Recent Drive

It is a matter of pride to every citizen of Bulloch county, particularly those who have been charged with the responsibility of promoting the campaign, that Bulloch county went far over her quota assessed in the recent War Bond drive.

The county's apportionment was originally set at $290,600; final reports indicate total sales of $400,056, an excess of $109,456. Reduced to percentages, this means oversales slightly in excess of 34 per cent. The quota of $290,600 sounded big enough at the outset, but the ease with which the goal was attained proves that the people of Bulloch county can do whatever they want to do—if they really want to do it.

According to statement rendered to A. R. Lanier, county chairman, the largest amount of these securities were "E" bonds, of which $195,829.50 were taken by individuals. Second came one-year bonds bearing a rate of 7 7/8 per cent, of which there were purchased $116,800. Bonds in lesser volume were those bearing 2 1/2 per cent, of which the were purchased $28,500; bearing 2 1/4 per cent, $19,000; "F" bonds, $17,500, and "G" bonds, $4,500.

While the outcome has been a source of satisfaction to the people charged with the responsibility of promoting the sales, Mr. Lanier makes explanation that there was absolutely no effort required beyond the matter of slight publicity through frequent announcements; thus the credit is carried directly back to the people who were interested enough to assume the duty placed upon their shoulders by the government in calling for public co-operation.

FARMERS BEGIN FIGHT BLUE MOLD

Election of Officers Also Be Matter of Business At Bureau Meeting

Fighting blue mold on tobacco plants and the annual election of county officers will be the major items of interest for the regular meeting of the Farm Bureau Thursday night at 8 p. m. in the court house.

W. Lee McElveen and J. H. Griffith will have charge of the discussion on the new systems of controlling blue mold and methods of using the materials available for this work. They will represent the Brooklet community Farm Bureau which has charge of the program. Items of interest that their community are doing will also be brought into the program.

This is also the time for the annual meeting on the entire staff of county Farm Bureau officers are to be elected. Mr. McElveen is chairman of the nominating committee. Other members of the committee are the president of the community chapter, C. E. Sanders, Stilson; C. O. Bohler, Registrar; C. J. Martin, Nevils, and Jim H. Strickland, Sinkhole.

The present officers are W. H. Smith Jr., president; W. H. Anderson, vice-president, and R. P. Mikell, secretary.

A motion picture on canning the home food supply will be a part of the program.

Jurors Drawn For March Term City Court

This year, with service flags in windows of nearly every home, Red Cross will mean so much more to Americans. As depicted in this reproduction of a 1944 Red Cross War Fund poster, many windows also will display the symbol of participation in the cause of Mercy and Humanity—the Red Cross.

County-Wide Organization For Red Cross Campaign

TELLS GIRLS WHY SHOULD JOIN WACS

In African Service Have Given Sufficient Proof Of Their Urgent Need

"If I were confined to stating one reason why the Wacs in my outfit originally joined up, I'd select the reason of 'need,'" WAC Lieut. Gertrude Lund said recently. Lt. Lund, just returned from duty at Allied headquarters in North Africa, provides an excellent example of the feelings of overseas Wacs. "The women felt they were really needed when they joined," she said. "And they soon found they were right."

The Wacs in Africa have proved definitely the essential worth of women in war; and their splendid work there has been the basis of multiple request by commanding officers everywhere for "more Wacs."

Ranging from duties of staff car drivers to assignments at Allied headquarters, the Wacs outside of actual combat run almost the entire gamut of military operations. Working side by side with the men, these women are showing that the new slogan, "Women's Place in War—the Women's Army Corps" is an actuality.

Pfc. Lillian Elliott, from the Savannah office represented the WACs in Statesboro Monday and Tuesday, coming as a substitute for Cpl. Ellen Kelley, who was confined at a hospital following a minor operation.

"Junior Miss" To Be Presented Tonight

"Junior Miss," the Broadway laugh hit, will be presented this (Thursday) evening by the Masquers in the Teachers College auditorium.

According to those who have seen the rehearsals and from all press notices on the play, there will be plenty of laughter on hand when "Junior Miss" is presented under the direction of Miss Mamie Jo Jones.

The complete cast for the performance for Thursday evening follows: Henry Shearouse, Eldred Mann, Betty DeLoach, Hazel Cowart, Doris Greer, I. S. Aldred, Melba Huggins, Chas. Owens, Margaret Strickland, Ed Simmons, Bill Wilcox, Gene Henderson, Pete Phillips, Richard Starr, Chas. Gruver, Bud Stone and Gene Coleman. Miss Ila McElveen, of Claxton, will play the party of Judy Graves, and the well known party of Puffy Adams will be played by Miss Melba Huggins, of Oliver.

FUNDS BE RAISED BY ACTIVE GROUP

Dinner Monday Night Brings Workers Together For Full Information

Bulloch county has set as her 1944 Red Cross War Fund Drive goal $12,000, which will be raised during this month, beginning March 7. A county-wide organization was completed at a dinner meeting of workers held Monday evening at the Norris Hotel.

Hoke S. Brunson and T. J. Morris have been named co-chairmen of the War Fund drive for the county. They will work with the local chapter of the American Red Cross, of which Everett Williams is chairman, Sam Strauss vice-chairman, C. B. McAllister treasurer, and Miss Hattie Powell secretary.

At the meeting Monday evening Mr. Morris talked on the Red Cross organization, the work it is doing, the present campaign, where the money will go and how it will be secured. He stated that the nation's minimum goal is two hundred million dollars, of which amount 140 million is for national and international work and sixty million is for local chapters in the United States. Of the 140 million, 30 million will go for hospitals, 37 million for services in the combat zones, 27 million for club programs, six million for assistance to local chapters, three and a half million to soldiers and soldiers' loans, four million for surgical dressings, four million for emergency clothing, three million for services to prisoners of war, four million for disaster relief, two and a half million for war relief in combat zones, five million for general service and assistance to local chapters, two and a quarter million for office and administrative expense, eleven and three-quarter million for general administrative expense.

In the rural districts of Bulloch county the committees named at the Monday evening meeting were as follows:

West Side—Mrs. R. L. Lanier, chairman; Harold Hendrix, vice-chairman.

Denmark—J. A. Denmark, chairman; Mrs. O. C. Anderson, vice-chairman; Mrs. John W. Sanders, Mrs. Sam Foss, Mrs. R. P. Miller, Mrs. A. J. Trappnell, Mrs. R. M. Bragg, Mrs. T. H. Hagan, Mrs. H. H. Zetterower.

Brooklet—T. E. Daves, chairman; E. C. Micham, vice-chairman; W. L. McElveen, J. H. Wynn, T. R. Bryan Jr., Mrs. J. H. Griffith, Mrs. D. L.

LOCAL CLUBSTERS FEEDING STEERS

Boys and Girls Begin Planning for Annual Fat Stock Show in April

Thirty Bulloch county 4-H club boys and girls are feeding thirty-nine steers for the annual fat stock show. Most of these calves went in the feed lot in the early fall. However, they are small as compared with the cattle usually fed out by this group and did not show the feeding much until the warm weather about February 1. These Bulloch county boys and girls have been feeding cattle for twelve years and have generally been able to boast that every show was better than the last one. They are making an attempt to keep this boast in 1944.

Eldwyn Proctor came up with the reserve champion in 1943 and has three entries again in 1944. De-vaughan Roberts has been trying for top honors for three years. Many of the others have shown two or more years. Those that have shown in previous years that will be back in 1944 are Bobby and Dewese Martin, R. M. Rowe Jr., Delmas Rushing, Edward Knight, Wilson Groover, Jean Martin, Billy Groover, Raymond Stainback, Emory Godbee, Bobby Stringer, Delmar Cowart and F. B. Thompson.

New faces in the ring this year will include Gene Henderson, Thomas Waters, Johnnie DeNitto, Charlie Campbell, Addison Minick, Norwood Bennett, Harry and Durwood Deal, Gene Denmark, Dedrick Bunce, Bobby Brannen, Wilbur Smith, Billy Stringer, Loy Mallard, J. B. Mikell and Franklin Lee.

BAPTISTS TO OBSERVE INTERMEDIATE DAY

Sunday, March 4th, is "Intermediate Day" at the Baptist church. The hour is 10:15 a. m. in the intermediate department of the Sunday school building. Come, all you intermediates and bring your friends with you. The hour will consist of a well planned program. The Statesboro High School quartet will sing. The able singers are Fred Hodges Jr., Donald McDougald, Russell Everitt and Kenneth Smith. Miss Nona Hodges will render special music on her xylophone.

Come to Sunday school Sunday and plan to stay for church. Make the day count for Christ and your country. REPORTER.

WAS THIS YOU?

Tuesday you wore a green jumper dress with a blouse of tiny brown checks, and brown shoes. You have brown eyes and hair and are employed down town.

The lady described will, upon application at the Times office, be given two free tickets to the picture, "Top Man," showing at the Georgia Theatre today and Friday. It's a picture she will enjoy.

Watch next week for new clue. The lady described last week was Miss Corine Veatch. She called for her tickets that evening and attended the show with a friend. Called later to express appreciation.

BROOKLET YOUTH WRITES OF INDIA

Campbell Writes Mother Interesting Letter About Life in Down-Under Land

(First Sergeant M. D. Campbell, Brooklet youngster, is doing his bit in the land of Gandhi, as a member of the armed forces "down under." A recent letter to his mother, Mrs. J. S. Campbell, of Brooklet, has been given us with permission to publish, and we are glad to pass it on to our readers, since its content deals with matters about which we Americans are intensely interested. We want to know about the people who comprise our world of democracy for which we are at war. Well, young Campbell has told us some interesting things, you'll agree.)

Somewhere in India, February 2, 1944.

Dear Mom:

Today I will try to write you a few lines to let you know the I am well and hope you are the same. Maybe I can give you a few ideas of the kind of country I am in. It is really very interesting.

There are certainly lots of people (and cows) over here. Most of the people are incredibly poor—farmers. Of course we haven't had much time to contact the higher classes, but there are quite a few who are well educated, and some of them quite rich. Their money consists of pice (1/4 cent), anna (2 cents), and rupee (30 cents). The poor work for very small pay, such as four or five annas per day.

These people live in villages composed of huts made from rice straw resembling hay stacks with holes in them, and invariably located near a common pool of water. This water is very dirty—they bathe, wash clothes, and water cattle in the same stagnant pool. The washing is done by slapping the cloth on a rock and spreading it on the ground to dry. There are numberless little rice patches, smaller than our gardens at home, with a low mud bank for irrigation erected completely around it. These banks are patted into shape by hand. In fact, nearly all work seems to be done with clumsy hand tools; even the water for irrigation is raised from one level to another by a metal tray swung on ropes; two women do this with a sweeping motion. Nearly everything we have seen in done in the slowest and most laborious way possible by hand labor. The switches on railroads are hand-operated, and the coal is carried in small baskets on the heads of men and women and thrown over in the tender. If they dig a ditch, the dirt is carried off a little at a time in platters on the heads of women. They can carry very heavy loads on their heads; they can put up a barracks bag (and ours are really stuffed) or a sack of potatoes and walk away without even steadying it with a hand. A generous tip for such service is two to four annas (4 to 8 cents).

Road travel that we have seen for long the most part is on ratty dirt roads by long lines of ox carts. They are certainly in no hurry, just plodding along for hour after hour, each pair of oxen eating the rice straw from the back of the preceding wagon. (The ones in front are out of luck.)

We have seen wild baboon and deer; the jackals and hyenas howl around our camp every night, and while on guard the other night I saw them running among the tents of our camp.

Of course we are lost on the language, but we have a "Guide to Hindustani" which we try on the Indians once in awhile. That, with their little English, and plenty of gestures, seems to suffice.

In the large cities there are some very good buildings, but mostly little stalls in which the merchants sit sewing shoes or sandals and selling articles. Nearly always he is squatting flat on top of one of his small show cases, wrapped in the inevitable sheet, and he peddles food or tobacco without ever rising. Most of these items are Indian, and thus unfamiliar to us. They are fond of betel nut as we are of tobacco. This nut is wrapped in a leaf buttered with lime, and they spit red all along the street. Tea is popular; it is poured into the saucer to drink. Prices are always much higher than they expect to get, for bargaining is part of their fun, and they haggle good naturedly (one would think they were very angry to hear them), but it's kind of a game which they seem to enjoy. Some poor

Brooklet Briefs

MRS. F. W. HUGHES, Reporter.

The Red Cross rooms are still open for making Red Cross dressings. Tuesday afternoons and Thursday nights Red Cross directors are on hand to direct the work. Tuesday afternoon there was a large crowd gathered at the Thursday night crowd shows a falling off. Ladies, help this worthy cause whether you have a loved one in the service or not. The boys are fighting for you. What will you do for them?

News has been received from San Antonio, Texas, that Young Olan Usher has completed his pre-flight training at that place with creditable grades. He is now stationed at Cimmaron Field, Oklahoma City, Okla., where he is undergoing primary training for the U. S. Army Air Corps. A graduate of the Brooklet High School, he attended Georgia Teachers College and was later a chain store manager at Vienna when he went into service.

The Parent-Teacher group directed by Mrs. J. H. Hinton, head of the home economics department of the school, held an interesting meeting Thursday afternoon in the home economics room. Those who participated in the discussions were Mrs. Hans Ebel, Mrs. T. R. Bryan Jr., Miss Ebel McCormick, Mrs. F. W. Hughes and Mrs. Kemple Jones. The next meeting will be held on Thursday afternoon after the third Sunday in March. Everybody is cordially invited.

Mrs. M. G. Moore entertained a group of friends and relatives Sunday with a lovely dinner in honor of her daughter, Miss Clara Moore, of Daytona Beach, Fla., who spent a few days with her mother this week. Among those present were Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Moore, Miss Mildred Moore, Mr. and Mrs. Waldo Moore and family, Mrs. J. O. Lanier, Mr. and Mrs. Carlton Lanier and family, all of this community; Miss Melvina Trussell and Mrs. Paul B. Lewis, of Statesboro.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the Primitive Baptist church met at the home of Mrs. Carl Lanier Monday afternoon. After a devotional led by Mrs. Lanier, Mrs. F. W. Hughes led a Bible study on seven of the "Parables of Jesus."

The Parent-Teacher Association of the Brooklet school district will hold its March meeting Thursday afternoon, March 9, at 3:30 o'clock. The committee is arranging an interesting program, and a large attendance will be an inspiration to this committee and the entire association.

Mrs. Joe Grooms entertained a group of young people Saturday night in honor of her son Arto, whose twelfth birthday was on that day. The celebration was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Grooms and about twenty-five young people enjoyed an evening of games interspersed with refreshments.

J. L. Simon, a well known business man here, and his son, Lt. Herman Simon, of Lincoln, Neb., were honorees at a lovely dinner Sunday given by Mrs. J. L. Simon. Among those present were Mr. and Mrs. William Estroff, Norman Glenn Alan, Sarah-bel and Alvan Estroff, all of Soperton; Mrs. Ben Yeaman and Henrietta Yeaman, of Cordelle; Miss Nellie Simon and Miss Dyna Simon, of Savannah.

The bride before her marriage attended Draughon's Business College in Savannah after graduation from the Brooklet High School. At present she is employed at the United States postoffice in Savannah. Cpl. Vick is the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Cicero Vick, of Richmond, before entering the Marine Corps he attended the Aerotechnical Institute in Glendale, California.

Cpl. and Mrs. Vick will reside at 111 East 34th street, Savannah.

The bride was becomingly attired in lovely gray dress with purple accessories and a corsage of orchids. Her only attendant was her sister, Mrs. W. A. Lenoir, of Savannah, who was matron of honor. Sgt. Charles Albert, of Parrie Island, was best man. Only friends of the immediate families were present.

Signs of Spring

THE days are still short; half the nation shivers under a blanket of snow—but there are signs of spring every where if you know where to look for them.

They are little things—such as new seed catalogs, ads clipped from magazines, reminders, scribbled on backs of envelopes, of things to be done.

Thousands of men, all over the country, are making such notes, looking ahead—farmers, manufacturers, stockholders, bankers. They represent what is called "management," and they know that to make the most of any season requires pretty careful figuring.

There's a skill in this management. It's a skill that men who run things have in common. That men who run things successfully have got to have. Management's problems are a good deal alike, no matter what the business—getting help, meeting payrolls and so on. Management's problems are a good deal alike, no matter what the business—getting help, meeting payrolls and so on.

And when you talk with these men, you find they have the same objectives, too. Right now they want to get the war won at the lowest possible cost in lives and suffering. After that's done, they'll be back on their never-ending job of turning out the material things needed to make a better, more prosperous world.

people come to town and just squat on their heels on the streets for hours after hour or sit cross-legged. Any time of the day or night you can find them sleeping on the sidewalks or in the streets.

Most of them drape themselves in a sheet, often a colored one, with the men's shawls caught up between the legs. A few have some of our articles of dress; maybe a stylish coat with a sheet for pants; maybe a shirt with the tail hanging out; maybe shoes instead of the usual sandals or bare feet. The richer ones—teachers, merchants, etc.—carry big black umbrellas over them, and often wear a shiny black coat and black cap.

The policeman is ratty in a thin blue uniform piped in yellow, knee breeches, a yellow belt, cap or bright red turban; sometimes an open umbrella fastened to his belt. Often he has a "STOP" sign tied to his back and front, turning himself to control traffic.

The head-dress is a wrap-around turban, which sometimes includes a small "amood" for wrapping the beard, which has been braided.

There are many, many beggars who follow you everywhere and are hard to get rid of. Some have learned enough English to say "No muna, no muna, no muna," which means "No money, no money, no money."

Some get hold of you and won't let go. They try to shine your shoes, manicure your nails, remove corns, or shave you right out in the street.

We have seen them come up and start cleaning out ears with a sharp metal stick without a word of warning.

There was a snake-charmer with his cobra in a round woven basket, and a little boy performed for us by playing a one-stringed contraption, singing in Hindustani, then he surprised us by breaking out with "The North American Way" in broken English, but with the correct tune.

One of the most popular ways of eight-seeing in the cities is by hiring a horse-drawn victoria, or carriage. There are also rickshaws pulled by coolies, which use human beings instead of horses. They can trot for many miles without a pause.

What a way to spend the rest of your life! Traffic all moves on the left in India. Of the right, and you have to really keep your eyes open; they don't stop for pedestrians—just give a toot on their horns (the old fashioned ones with the rubber bulb) and come at you full tilt. We also took a taxi; it was night and blacked-out conditions prevailed, but we went tearing along on the left side of the street in breath-taking fashion. Many of the cars and trucks have little stove attachments and burn charcoal instead of gasoline.

We ate dinner in a very good restaurant, waited on by a tall Indian in a turban, robe, and bare feet. We had soup, steak, six kinds of vegetables, coffee, dessert and fruit, and the total bill was 3 rupees, or about $1 in American money.

On the average, 3 rupees apiece, or about 90 cents.

A red spot in the forehead of the women indicates marriage, and this spot appears on some very young girls, not over seven or eight years.

of age. Many of the men wear close-cropped hair, except for a small pigtail which hangs down from the crown of their heads. The women like a small piece of silver inserted in the side of their noses, and many wear bracelets and anklets, and even silver rings on their toes. The children are often completely naked.

Close by every little village (and these are numerous) is a white shrine over which sits a pennant. Inside is an idol, a statue of Buddha or a gilded cow. They don't seem to most together to worship, but go singly, at any time. Some of them have a streak of coloring in their forehead to indicate they have just been to worship.

The cows here roam the streets unmolested, often lying down right on the sidewalk. I have seen a cow enter the shop where I was looking over souvenirs, look around for a few minutes, and slowly back out again. No one attempted to shoo her out.

The trains are hot stuff. The coaches have little compartments which open on the outside. Most of the accommodations are bare wooden benches, nothing else. These are inhabited by roaches, lice and bugs which kept us busy swatting, spraying and powdering. You pay as you go out of the station after reaching your destination; they have no way of knowing what class coach you came on or where you entrained—just come to charge anything they think they can get.

Reptiles abound, too. I think from one station to another clinging to the platform outside, then just drop off without paying anything.

The Australian and English railroad system is different from ours, but it is much better than India's. You pay as you get off and the stations are all closed in. Their girls are nice looking, but they are a little behind in fashion and appearance.

They wear long dresses and that makes them look a little homelier than the girls back in the States, and the boys wear short pants. The hours of work in the restaurants are split—the cooks are off from 2 to 5 in the afternoon.

Our camp is a new one. Ours is one of the first outfits to be here, so conditions are quite primitive. The mess tent is under a big tree, which might be likened to one a little girl would pick for her playhouse. Our china is durable tin mess kits for officers and men alike. For a dining table instead of beautiful oak we have bamboo poles crudely tied together. Chairs are unexciting as we stand for all our meals. The "China clipper" isn't. Two GI cans suffice, one with soap and one with clear water, both heated by an open fire—again bamboo plays an important part.

Numerous kites (similar to the falcon) are unveiled guests at every meal. They are larger than our turban, robe, and bare feet. We have the exactness of a dive-bomber, with maneuverability contested only by the Jap Zero. They are right for your mess kit and more often than not that best piece of steak (?) or corned beef (?) is brought 14,000 miles for nothing.

Our one-room bungalows are in perfect formation. We have white ceilings and walls intermingled with a blue tapestry effect. We have a beautiful green and brown rug, brown where the grass is worn off. The cot you know about and also the mosquito net we sleep under. Since a rainy season the mosquitoes have declared war upon us. In the afternoon we shake them out of our beds and arrange the netting perfectly so not even one can get in. Then to bed at last.

Between Us

All along we get interesting bits of news from our boys and girls who are in the service, and our readers are always glad to have the news passed on to them. So often scanning the newspapers we pass up the things that might interest us most. The past week there appeared in the Atlanta Journal stories about three of Statesboro's young people. It was rather a coincidence that neither Ed Danforth nor Ernest Rogers knew the other had referred to the different Statesboro young people. In Danforth's column, "As far to the ground," he had this heading, "Crackers Eat Steaks in Jungle." I promised a bunch of Georgia boys and a pretty Red Cross girl from the Peach state that I would drop you a note telling about the state of Georgia steak supper we enjoyed here in India. Really it was quite a clam-bake. We went out to some ancient ruins a few miles out of town, where previously dispatched bearers had the steaks cooking, salad, coffee and cake all set for the hungry Southerners. There was a full Hindu menu, which added all the light needed for us to devour the steak, two to four to the customer, and enjoy the occasion. Miss Aline Whitehead, of Statesboro, is the most popular hostess at the Red Cross club here—and why not, as she is a striking example of the Southern beauty, who has not only the looks but the grace and charm to make her a success. She is a graduate of the 1943 class of Port High School.

Mr. Allen is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Allen, also of Statesboro. He is employed with the Statesboro Telephone Company.

At the present the young couple will make their home with his parents.

A wedding of interest was that of Miss Margie Freeman and Bennett Allen on Feb. 26th. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Freeman Sr., of Statesboro. She is a graduate of the 1943 class of Port High School.

Miss Brady Hostess

Miss Laura Margaret Brady was hostess Monday evening at her home on North Main street to members of the High School Beta Club. Spring flowers decorated the rooms where the guests were entertained with musical numbers rendered by Misses Betty Gunter, Virginia Cobb and Norma Hodges, and games were also enjoyed. Club pins and certificates were issued and during the social hour sandwiches, potato chips, crackers and coconuts were served. Miss Miriam Girard is sponsor for the club. Twenty-three members were present.

Capt. Mount in States

Friends will be interested to learn that Capt. Eldridge Mount, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Mount, of Gainesville, formerly of Statesboro, has returned home from overseas, where he has been for more than two years. Capt. Mount and Miss Emory Rayner, formerly of Statesboro, were married at the home of the bride's parents, Rev. and Mrs. G. N. Rainey, in Waycross, Monday.
